Innovative violin solutions.....

January 2, 2023

Instrument repairs require a thorough inspection and evaluation prior to estimating costs. These costs are evaluated in comparison to the instrument's practical, market or sentimental value in order that the customer can comfortably decide upon the appropriate solution.

The following is a sampling of prices that reflect the normal price of repair for each common task. It is important to understand that extent of repairs may not be obvious until the full extent of work is exposed. For example a bow frog may look quite normal, but more often than we'd like, we have discovered the slide is glued in, making it quite problematic to remove without destroying the slide and building a new one. Violins are often brought with signs of amateur repair using incompatible glues which necessitates the tedious removal of all traces of such glues prior to repair. Therefore, if additional work is required, the details will be communicated, and approval requested, before further activity.

Note that prices may vary depending on the entire scope of work on a particular instrument and any variance in quality of materials or make of strings requested. As always, prices are subject to change at any time without notice.
